We will examine the lives and roles of women in Classical Antiquity by discussing various written sources (literary, philosophical, medical, etc.), and we will explore the origins of modern conceptions of female identity that may be rooted in the Greco-Roman past.