David Townsend is Professor of Medieval Studies and English at the University of Toronto. His published work includes editions and translations of medieval texts, the study of medieval manuscripts, and the relevance of gender theory and queer theory to medieval literature. He is a member of the editorial board of the Dumbarton Oaks Medieval Library (Harvard University Press) and general editor of the Toronto Medieval Latin Texts. With UC Davis Provost Ralph Hexter he co-edited the Oxford Handbook of Medieval Latin Literature (2011).