Arabic Language and Culture—Fall 2015

- Spend a semester in the beautiful and historic city of Meknes, a UNESCO World Heritage Site.
- Fulfill a year’s worth of Arabic language study in one semester.
- Engage with the local community through the service learning component of this program.
- Visit some of the best-preserved medieval cities in the world.
- Ride camels to your campsite amidst the sweeping desert landscape of the Sahara.

Program Description

Study Arabic language and culture in vibrant Meknes, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Students will have the opportunity to work with local Moroccans in a variety of structured community projects. Meknes is a rich mixture of new and old, medieval and modern, with a striking history of interactions between Amazigh, Arab, Jewish and French cultures. This new program is a great opportunity for students to explore the literature, art, architecture, and history of a unique corner of the world. Program excursions include a tour of one of the best-preserved medieval cities in the world and overnight camping in the desert, with a camel ride, visit with a desert-dwelling family, feast of local foods, and dancing under the stars.
